DetachPipe

Need More Space On Your E-Mail Servers?

Reclaim Gigabytes of free disk space on your e-mail servers now by deleting attachments or by saving them to each user's local machine

Intelligent Processing

DetachPipe is an Add On integrated into Microsoft Outlook for one-click saving, compressing and deleting of attachments. A convenient hyperlink is left in each email and attachments can be saved with the original or a new name and saved in a folder structure based on several email variables (sender, subject, date etc).

DetachPipe can be rapidly deployed because training is not required – it leverages the familiar email workflow used every day.

DetachPipe can automatically save incoming attachments and re-attaches files if you forward the original email (just like normal). If you just reply to an email then the attachment links are removed. Outgoing attachments can be compressed or deleted (since you already have a copy). If you delete an email then the associated files are removed. Duplicate attachments are merged together – saving even more space!

DetachPipe can easily save attachment(s) from one or multiple messages (or folders) with a mouse click. An AutoDetach feature can also run daily at a predetermined time to take care of new attachments.
